

Counseling Fees

for UNM Law School Students

The UNM School of Law supports your well-being by providing on-site counseling, which is paid for by student fees and allotted by SOL budget considerations.

Here is a breakdown of SHAC Counseling Services Fees at the Law School:

- 1L, 2L, and 3L students can attend counseling at no additional cost, when the service is provided at the Law School by the onsite provider Karen Lucero, LPC.
- All Law students can elect to receive services from SHAC at Main Campus; however, insurance or self-pay will be required as payment.
- All SHAC student self-pay fees for Counseling Services are $15.00 per session, which is billed to your Bursar's account.
- Counseling Services provided at the Law School are unique, as the provider specializes in mental health and substance abuse disorders prevalent in the legal profession. Plus, the provider's services (counseling, consulting, and psychoeducation) are informed by the American Bar Association's support of Well-Being in the Legal Profession. (Stay tuned for more on the ABA Well-Being Pledge.)

Appointments

To schedule an appointment with Karen Lucero, please contact her by phone at (505) 277-0555 or via the SHAC Health Portal, at <https://shac.unm.edu/shac-health-portal.html>.